Quality is Choice

Quality is the ability of a product or service to meet consumer expectations and requirements.

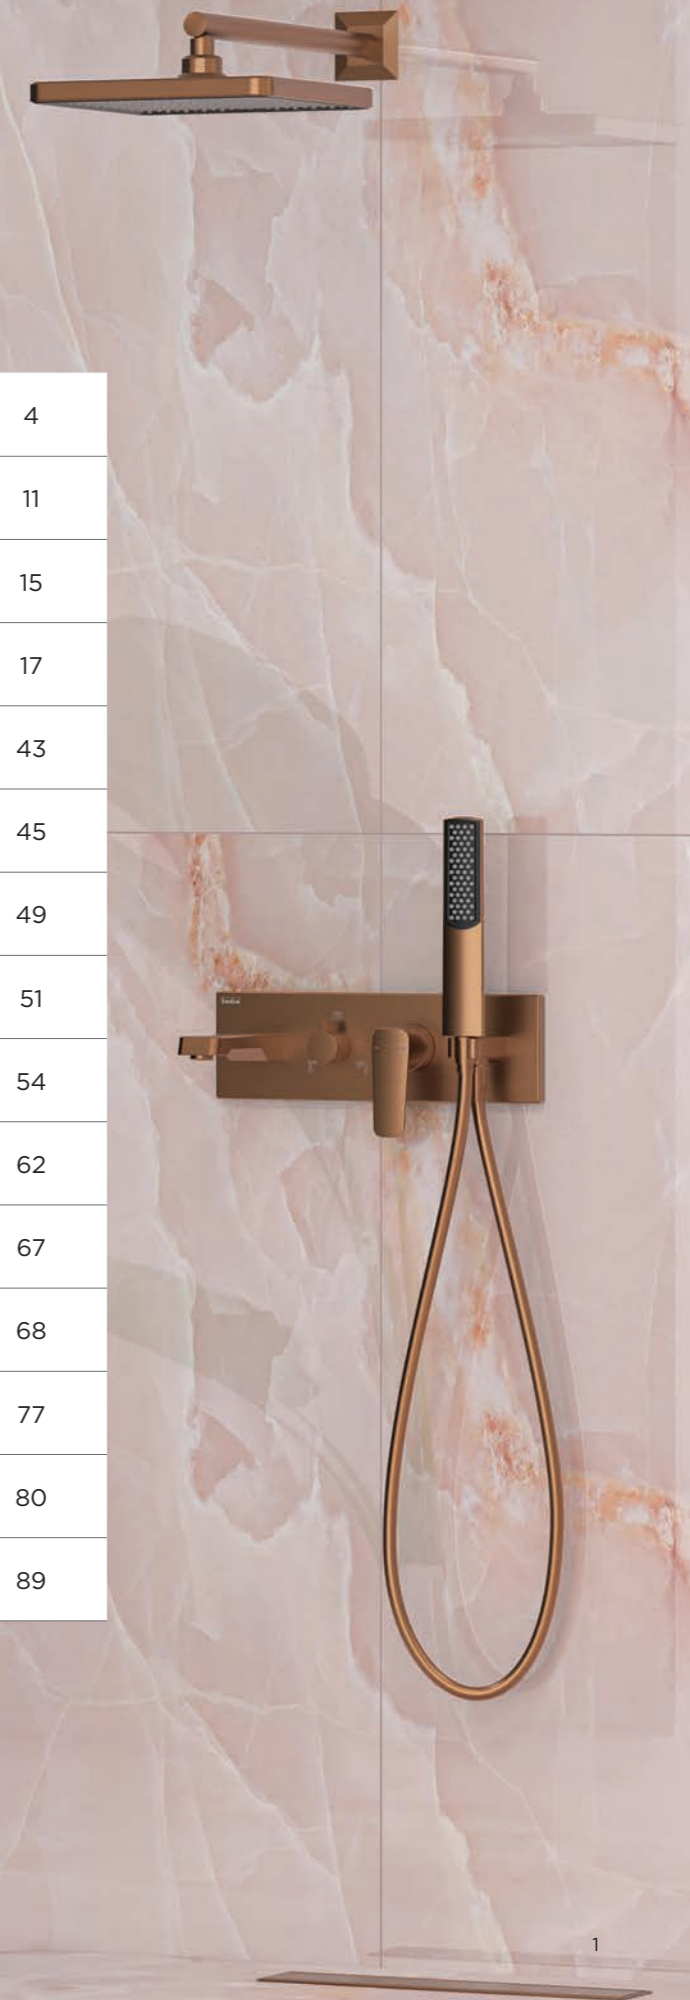

The most important criterion for determining the quality of a service or product is the consumer.

Depending on consumer expectations, quality is a concept that changes according to society's cultural development, tastes, and habits.

Our goal at TESKA is to better understand consumer preferences and needs and to produce better goods/services than our competitors.

Let's not forget: In the long run, doing a job flawlessly is cheaper than correcting it later.
